

Jacob Hasselbalch

Thesis:

The Political Economy of Disruptive Innovation: Governing Slow Firms in Fast Markets

Email: jacob.hasselbalch@erasmusmundus-gem.eu [<mailto:jacob.hasselbalch@erasmusmundus-gem.eu>]

LinkedIn: <http://www.linkedin.com/in/jhasselbalch> [<http://www.linkedin.com/in/jhasselbalch>]

Facebook: <http://www.facebook.com/jhasselbalch> [<http://www.facebook.com/jhasselbalch>]

Twitter: <https://twitter.com/jhasselbalch> [<https://twitter.com/jhasselbalch>]

Skype: jhasselbalch

Academic Degrees

Erasmus Mundus Joint Doctoral Programme, University of Warwick and L'Université Libre de Bruxelles, 2013-2016

M. Sc. in International Business and Politics, Copenhagen Business School, 2012

B. Sc. in International Business and Politics, Copenhagen Business School, 2009

Work Experience

2013: Sustainable Procurement Assistant at United Nations Office for Project Services (UNOPS)

2011: Internship with Grontmij A/S

2007-11: Student assistant at Sociability ApS

Specific Research Title, Area and Promotor(s)

Supervisors: Leonard Seabrooke (Copenhagen Business School/Warwick), Jean-Frédéric Morin (Université Libre de Bruxelles), Andre Broome (Warwick), and Cornel Ban (Boston University)

Description of research work

Please refer to my E-portfolio [<http://go.warwick.ac.uk/jhasselbalch>] for an overview of my research activities.